20th Annual TASS Conference

Teaching Academic Survival Skills

Sunday - Wednesday
March 8 - 11, 2009
Palm Beach Atlantic University,
West Palm Beach, Florida

This conference is sponsored by Northern Essex Community College, Haverhill, MA and hosted by Palm Beach Atlantic University, West Palm Beach, FL.
MEMORANDUM
From the Office of the President

Welcome to the 20th annual Teaching Academic Survival Skills (TASS) Conference. It is an honor for Northern Essex Community College to be the sponsor of this important educational event.

The teaching of academic survival skills is one of the most important things that colleges do today. Access to higher education is one of the keys to an individual’s future. The founders of TASS felt there was a need for college educators working with at-risk students to have a forum for sharing their experiences, successes, and insights in working with these students.

Without the talent and commitment of the educators attending this conference, “access” would be a hollow term. It is through your dedication and continuous search for professional development that allows our student’s to achieve academic success.

I wish to thank Palm Beach Atlantic University for hosting the 20th Annual TASS conference. PBAU has once again been an exceptionally gracious and kind host for the conference. We value this relationship and look forward to working with PBAU in the future.

Lastly, I wish each of you a productive and relaxing time in West Palm Beach. Enjoy the TASS conference, meet new colleagues and enjoy the warm weather. I look forward to seeing each of you on the PBAU campus.

Regards,

David F. Hartleb
President
Welcome to the Twentieth Annual Teaching Academic Survival Skills (TASS) Conference sponsored by Northern Essex Community College (NECC). This year the conference host is Palm Beach Atlantic University (PBAU) in West Palm Beach, Florida. Breakfast, lunch and all presentations will be held on the PBAU campus. If you have any questions, please check with the registration table on campus.

TASS Conference History

The Teaching Academic Survival Skills (TASS) Conference was the brainchild of Professors James Harter and Terry Bullock twenty years ago at the University of Cincinnati. They felt there was a need for college educators working with at-risk students to have a forum for sharing their experiences, successes, and insights in working with these students. With help and encouragement from a number of individuals from the University College and the College of Evening and Continuing Education, including Dean David Hartleb and Professor Harry Prats we were able to secure funds to initiate the conferences. Northern Essex Community College joined the University of Cincinnati as a co-sponsor of TASS in 1999 and in 2004 took over as the sole sponsor. Once again, David Hartleb, now President of Northern Essex Community College, championed the cause of TASS. As a result of his contributions and those of David Kelley, Dean at Northern Essex Community College, the TASS conference has continued to flourish.

Over the years, the TASS conference has had thirty to fifty sessions where presenters describe methods they have used to help students succeed in reading, writing, math, English as a second language, first year experiences and computer classes. Evaluations from participants have indicated that the hands-on approach used by presenters gave them a wealth of ideas, strategies, and materials to take back to their respective institutions.

We continue to publish conference information on our home page at www.tassconference.org. The conference committee will continue to explore ways to increase its value for you. Please help by giving us your feedback regarding techniques and technology you think will benefit the growth of the TASS conference.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

DR. ROBERT FELDMAN
(12:00-1:20 PM, Monday, March 9, 2009)
Sponsored by McGraw-Hill

Robert S. Feldman is Professor of Psychology and Associate Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Feldman, a winner of the College Distinguished Teacher award, has also taught courses at Mount Holyoke College, Wesleyan University, and Virginia Commonwealth University.

Feldman is Director of Power Up for Success, the first-year experience course at the University of Massachusetts. He also teaches introductory psychology to classes ranging in size from 20 to nearly 500 students. He has served as a Hewlett Teaching Fellow and Senior Online Teaching Fellow, and he frequently gives talks on the use of technology in teaching. He initiated the Research and Mentoring Program for minority students at the University of Massachusetts.

Feldman is on the Board of Directors of the Federation of Behavioral, Psychological, and Cognitive Sciences and also is on the Board of the Foundation for the Advancement of Behavioral and Brain Sciences. A Fellow of the American Psychological Association and the Association for Psychological Science, Feldman received a B.A. with High Honors from Wesleyan University and an M.S. and Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin–Madison. He is a winner of a Fulbright Senior Research Scholar and Lecturer award, and he has written more than 100 books, book chapters, and scientific articles.

Feldman’s books include P.O.W.E.R. Learning: Strategies for Success in College and Life, Understanding Psychology, and Development Across the Life Span. His books have been translated into many languages, including Spanish, French, Portuguese, Dutch, Chinese, and Japanese. His research interests include honesty and deception and the use of nonverbal behavior in impression management, and his research has been supported by grants from the National Institute of Mental Health and the National Institute on Disabilities and Rehabilitation Research.

PROFESSOR STEVE PISCITELLI
(8:50-9:40 AM, Tuesday, March 10, 2009)
Sponsored by Prentice Hall/Pearson Publishers

Our keynote speaker brings energy, humor, interaction, music, and practicality to his classroom as well as each session he facilitates. An award-winning teacher and seasoned workshop facilitator, Professor Steve Piscitelli has written five student success books. Rhythms of College Success: A Journey of Discovery, Change, and Mastery (Pearson Prentice Hall, 2008) embraces the power of personal choice and addresses the often-competing needs of college students. The book demonstrates how respect, responsibility, reflection, and renewal fuel student success.

Steve's latest book Study Skills: Do I Really Need This Stuff, 2nd edition, (Pearson Prentice Hall, 2009) examines how critical thinking skills are the basis for academic success and personal choice. Steve also wrote, produced, recorded, and released his first music CD, Same Tune, Different Song. Some of those songs you will hear during the keynote session as he sings about the challenges and joys of both the workplace and the classroom.

Steve currently serves as professor of history, education and student success at Florida Community College at Jacksonville. He lives in Atlantic Beach, Florida with his bride, Laurie, and his canine companion, Buddy.

DR. LANE GLENN
(12:00-1:20 PM, Tuesday, March 10, 2009)
Sponsored by TASS

Dr. Lane A. Glenn is Vice President of Academic Affairs at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill, Massachusetts. He has also served as Dean of Academic and Student Services at Oakland Community College in Auburn Hills, Michigan; and on the faculty at Lansing Community College in Lansing, Michigan. He has a diverse background in education and the performing arts that includes nearly twenty years of teaching and administration, alongside work as an actor and director for the stage, television and films.

Lane is a Facilitator for the International Chair Academy for Leadership Training and Development and a certified Appreciative Inquiry Trainer for Company of Experts.net. As a researcher, author and consultant for higher education professionals, businesses and the social sectors, he has produced articles and workshops on topics ranging from behavioral styles and team building, to conflict management, strategic planning, change management, leadership through storytelling, academic master planning, student development at commuter colleges, and learning styles in the classroom and in the workplace.

A born optimist and former president of his local chapter of Optimists International, Lane seeks solutions to student success and organizational development challenges through a “strengths-based and evidence-guided” approach to visioning, planning and communications. Lane earned a Ph.D. from Michigan State University, a Master of Arts from Oklahoma State University, and a Bachelor of Arts from Northeastern State University. Lane is proud to say he got his start at a community college: Rose State College in Midwest City, Oklahoma.

Survival Skills Antarctic Style-[Best Practices/Core Competency]

Terry Bullock—1291 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati
This presentation will show an innovative approach to assist underprepared students to set goals by using film clips and memoirs from early Antarctic explorers.

Developmental Writing to Mainstream Writing: Creating a Positive Learning Experience for At-Risk Students-[Writing/Study Skills]

Carole Lillis—Pamela Jennings—1305 Rinker
Keuka College
As many instructors in post secondary education are discovering, students are coming to college under prepared for the rigors of college learning, especially in regard to writing skills. At Keuka College, a team of writing and study skills instructors redesigned the Developmental Writing Course to not only address deficiencies, but to provide the at-risk student population with the foundations needed to succeed in the entire writing sequence of the College, thus providing them with a true retention opportunity.
Successful Online Learning - a Collaboration between Student and Instructor-[Technology/Distance]
Robin Robinson~1307 Rinker
Framingham State College
At Framingham State College, successful online learning is a collaborative experience between students and instructor. Participants attending the session will share in a discussion of these strategies and best practices.

Unlocking the Mystery of Assessment-[Best Practices/Core Competency]
Janis Walter~1294 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati
Assessment is an integral element of instruction and learning. This session will provide hands-on activities and numerous samples to guide you through the assessment process.

Is Service Learning Right for Your Class, Program, College or you? A Workshop Detailing the Benefits, Challenges, Options and Getting Started-[Best Practices/Core Competency]
Marilyn Simon~1295 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati, Blue Ash
Supported as a successful pedagogical learning tool for integrated learning, participants will have the opportunity to determine whether Service Learning is appropriate for their students, and how to implement it.

EXHIBITOR’S PRESENTATION

Textbook Publishing: What Every Prospective Author Should Know-[Other]
John Biernat~1291 MacArthur
McGraw-Hill Higher Education
The session will provide a brief overview of how/why individuals become authors of higher education materials. This will be an interactive session with plenty of time for Q&A.

Language Theatre for Teaching English-[ESL]
Damodar Gurrapu~Chiranjeevi Ambaragonda~1305 Rinker
Kakatiya University, India~Medha Institute of English, India
The main objective of this presentation is to suggest suitable solutions to break the psychological barriers of ESL learners (stage fright, laliophobia, inferiority complex, etc.) through theatre arts apart from letting them know the ways and mean of improving the diction and body language while communicating.
Error Connecting with Server: Case Study Analyses of Writers-[Study Skills]
Angela Ricciardi~Jessica Dube~Amanda Cook~Weston Thompson 1307 Rinker
Plymouth State University
Students with Asperger’s Syndrome have become increasingly common in higher education. Two students with Asperger’s with very different personalities, qualities, and needs frequently used our academic support services and met with both professional staff and peer tutors. In attempts to serve them and accommodate their processes, we responded with individualized methods and regulations. We would like to present both cases and reflect on their outcomes. Then we will prompt participants’ reflection and perspectives in a collaborative round-table discussion on the effectiveness and appropriateness of our strategies.

Concept Mapping: an Individualized Strategy for Developmental Students-[Reading]
Laurie Bauer~1294 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati
This presentation will demonstrate the use of a Concept Map for a culminating assignment in developmental reading courses. The learning tool discussed incorporates technology as well as students' prior knowledge and experiences to create a visual display that represents ideas from a variety of texts.

Giving Voice to Our Students' Great Ideas!-[Other]
Linda Desjardins~1295 MacArthur
Northern Essex Community College
Incorporating Oral Communication across the curriculum assures that all students experience speaking up and giving presentations, invaluable job and life skills. Additionally, being able to speak up, to advocate, builds confidence immeasurably.

Memory Techniques for Fun and Effective Learning-[Study Skills]
Fred Chrisman~1291 MacArthur
Shawnee State University
It’s how to learn - not how to study. Let me show you the difference with examples from thirty-five years of practice.
The Nine Needs of First Gen Students (Other than Money and Traditional Academic Support)-[Best Practices/Core Competency]
Charlie Johnson~1305 Rinker
Indiana University, Purdue University, Indianapolis
This interactive session will focus on nine needs of lower-income, first generation college students beyond financial and traditional academic support. Participants will be able to share their own stories of innovation and success.

Connecting Literacy Tools to Experience-[Reading]
Deborah Kellner~1307 Rinker
University of Cincinnati
This presentation will discuss the practice of journaling and its relevancy for developmental students who often present their own issues within the classroom setting. These issues can include poverty, death of a family member, single-parenting responsibilities, abuse, natural disasters, and/or family members sent to war. This session will address literacy tools as a solace for those who suffer silently.

Cool Assistive Technology Tools for Everyone-[Technology/Distance]
Kathy Burris~1294 MacArthur
Landmark College
This presentation introduces a smorgasbord of classic and emerging assistive technology tools that both students and faculty can use to increase the quality and efficiency of their personal and professional work.

The Purpose and Effectiveness of Extra Credit-[Best Practices/Core Competency]
Greg Loving~1295 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati Clermont College
This workshop presents the reasons behind using extra credit and examines data on the effectiveness of extra credit. Participants are encouraged to bring data from their own experience.

You help them see how their present has an impact on their future. This year’s TASS conference will focus on how to reach students-how to connect and help them believe in themselves and reach academic goals. But what about you, the professional who makes things happen in the classroom? Who recognizes what you do? Today, we will. For a few minutes this morning we will focus on you, the people who provide the inspiration for student success. Through music, humor, and interaction, Steve will guide us on a joyful journey to celebrate the present – a present that touches the future.</td>

“Failure to Launch”
Depending on how close you've been to a classroom recently, this may or may not be news to you: Young men are graduating from high school, enrolling in college, and finishing degrees at rates that are astonishingly lower than young women. And along the way, they require more remediation, earn fewer credits and achieve lower GPAs.

This is not new—it’s a trend that began thirty years ago and has continued steadily since. Not worried yet? If you have a son, a grandson, a nephew or a pesky kid brother, remember this: Men with a high school education or less are least likely to marry, least likely to be employed, and most likely to end up in prison. It’s been a long time in the making, but we may just now be realizing the devastating academic, social and economic condition of American young men. What’s the deal?

How about video games and the feminization of schools? Helicopter parents and over-inflated self-esteem? Adderall, Ritalin and Dextedrine (Oh, my!) Water bottles turning us into “half the man” our grandfather used to be? And how does Homer Simpson fit into all this? In this presentation we’ll take a run at these things and a few more, then consider what we might do as educators and leaders to save the males.

Memory Techniques for Fun and Effective Learning-[Study Skills]
Fred Chrisman~1291 MacArthur
Shawnee State University
It's how to learn - not how to study. Let me show you the difference with examples from thirty-five years of practice.

Case Management as an Effective Strategy to Improve Persistence rates? The Results of a Social Research Demonstration Project-[Student Services]
Yves Pelletier~Fiona Bain-Greenwood~1305 Rinker
Canada Millennium Scholarship Foundation
Foundations for Success is a multi-year demonstration project testing the delivery of student support services through a case managed directed access rather than the traditional, more passive model. This rigorous research will determine the effectiveness of this approach in improving the graduation rates of students at greater risk of dropping out before graduation.

Self Advocacy-Self Determination for At Risk Students-[Best Practices/Core Competency]
Dotti Osterholt~Julia Forsythe~1307 Rinker
Landmark College
Self advocacy and self determination for at risk students within academic settings: What is it? How do we support it?

Paired Reading: Past, Present, and Future-[Reading]
Terry Bullock~1291 MacArthur
University of Cincinnati
This session will examine the history, current status and the future for this strategy to pair reading with a content area course.
Conversation Sandwich: Engaging Students in the Evaluation of Their Own Research-[Writing]
Danielle Saad~1305 Rinker
Alvernia University
Get students to honestly evaluate their use of source materials by asking them to dissect finished projects quote by quote, paraphrase by paraphrase. Participants receive detailed instructions and participate in a mock assignment.

Integrating Simplex Applied Creativity into a Composition Course-[Writing]
Amy Abafo~1307 Rinker
University of Cincinnati
Simplex is an applied creative problem solving process that can be integrated into a composition course. When students utilize this methodology in writing, they learn to follow the problem solving process which engages and promotes critical thinking and writing skills.

Analyzing Students’ Developmental Course Placements: a Tool to Target Resources and Services-[Student Services]

Ellen Wentland~1291 MacArthur
Northern Essex Community College
Many students enrolling in Northern Essex Community College are underprepared, and test into developmental courses. A methodology analyzing these placements yielded information useful for targeting resources to support student success.

The Magic of Gizmos: Gadgets for All-[Technology/Distance]
Kathy Proietti~Ethel Schuster~1307 Rinker
Northern Essex Community College
Imagine being able to play with cool gadgets! With a set of cool gadgets that include GPS’s, small computers, a pen to scan text to take notes and a virtual keyboard, we have "turned-on" our students to explore the technologies behind them.

Evaluation Forms
Don’t forget to complete and return your evaluation forms for each session to the presenter. The Conference Evaluation form in your conference packet should be returned to the TASS Registration and Information desk.
